National Cannabis Reform & Patient Access Initiative

Every Voice Matters. Every Experience Counts.

Why participate?

Regulatory clarity affects patient access, public health, legal certainty, livelihoods and fair participation. This initiative gathers different perspectives, including reasons to retain or change current safeguards.

Six ways to contribute

Public survey; patient access experiences; business and employment effects; legal and administrative experiences; expert evidence; volunteer and community partnerships.

Different processes

A campaign survey is not a petition. A campaign petition is not automatically a parliamentary petition. Formal consultations and administrative engagement have separate procedures. Government delivery is checked and recorded separately.

Your privacy

Privacy review notice: participation is voluntary and adult-only (18+). Answers are for restricted campaign evidence review and de-identified reporting. Do not include identity numbers, exact addresses, diagnoses, criminal admissions or names of third parties. Expert/volunteer contact details serve only the stated purpose. Draft retention proposal: 180 days after entry; the approved notice must confirm the responsible party, privacy contact, storage, transfers, rights and backup deletion before collection. Keep the response reference and private receipt supplied after secure entry to access or withdraw your response. Petition and email consent are separate.

Responsible reporting

Reports distinguish verified facts, self-reported experiences, estimates, opinions, expert assessments and unverified allegations. Voluntary respondents do not represent all South Africans. Raw submissions are not public.

Review phase

Do not collect responses using these materials until the relevant review has been approved. Petition signing and patient collection have additional gates. No blanket suspension of all Section 21 authorisations is treated as verified.
